

Here We Go 2023!!

It is the end of the year when usually, one begins thinking about accomplishments and resolutions for the future. I am proud of how all of us survived the pandemic and economic shocks of the past two years. Let us look forward to even bigger and brighter things in the future.

Speaking of the future, the gnomes on our creative board are working overtime on new designs for 2023 (wait, doesn't everyone have gnomes on their creative team these days). As usual they place themselves in many of the designs. Their work really surprises me with its creativity and splash of colors. I may have to give them a raise this year.

Gnomes work hard, but like the rest of us, they enjoy time off for the holidays. In winter they enjoy sledding down hills on mushrooms or roasting marshmallows in a twig fire pit.

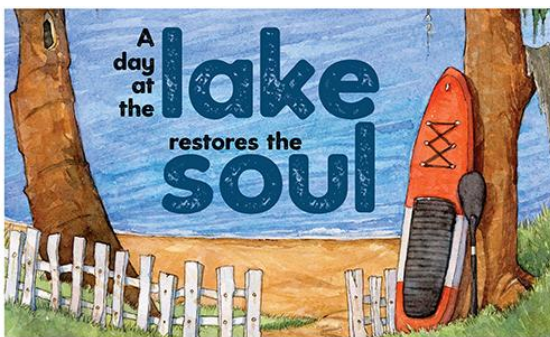

But, like us, they also look forward to flowers and honeybees in the spring and are just as patriotic as the rest of us. So, the gnomes also included some interesting samples representing the upcoming seasons and holidays in 2023.
